A Life of Service and Sacrifice

Frank Scozzari's life was a tapestry of unwavering commitment to service and sacrifice. Born into a humble family in Brooklyn, New York, he was instilled with values of patriotism and compassion from a young age. After graduating from high school, he enlisted in the United States Army, eager to serve his country.

In 2005, Frank was deployed to Iraq as part of Operation Iraqi Freedom. During a combat operation, a roadside bomb detonated beneath his Humvee, leaving him critically injured. The explosion shattered his pelvis, fractured his femur, and caused severe internal injuries. Despite the overwhelming pain and adversity, Frank's spirit refused to be broken.

The Birth of Iwarriors

As Frank lay recovering in the hospital, surrounded by fellow wounded warriors, he witnessed firsthand the challenges they faced in navigating the complex and often overwhelming world of rehabilitation and recovery. Inspired by their resilience and determination, he resolved to create an organization that would provide them with the support they needed to rebuild their lives.

In 2007, with the unwavering support of his wife, Karen, Frank founded Iwarriors. The non-profit's mission is to empower wounded veterans and their families through tailored programs that address their unique physical, emotional, and financial needs.

A Legacy of Empowerment

Over the years, Iwarriors has grown from a small grassroots organization into a national force for good. Through its comprehensive programs, Iwarriors provides:

- Financial assistance for medical expenses, education, and housing
- Adaptive sports programs that promote physical and mental recovery
- Therapeutic retreats and support groups that foster healing and connection
- Career counseling and job placement services to help veterans re-enter the workforce
- Advocacy and outreach initiatives to raise awareness of veteran issues

Frank Scozzari's legacy is not only measured by the number of veterans he helped, but also by the ripple effect his work has had on the broader community. Iwarriors has inspired countless individuals and organizations to join the fight against veteran homelessness, unemployment, and mental health challenges.

A Symbol of Hope

Frank Scozzari passed away in 2016, but his spirit continues to inspire and motivate the Iwarriors team and the countless veterans they serve. His unwavering commitment to the well-being of those who have sacrificed so much for our country serves as a powerful reminder of the profound impact that one person's dedication can have.
