Chapter 1: The Songwriting Blueprint

Most rhymes come at the end of a phrase – these are “end rhymes.” A rhyme can also occur in the middle of a phrase as well. These are “internal rhymes.”

end rhyme → I've been waiting for your call You keep wanting me to fall

internal rhyme → The headline screams with the news
The deadline for us all is today
A red line is drawn on the floor
The next time we will start with love

Pretty cool approach, right?
